TRAVEL VISAS FOR AMERICANS IN 2025

Updated December 13, 2024

The European Union will require visitors to apply for travel visas in 2025.

Citizens of the United States and Canada will need to have been approved for the visa when boarding flights and cruises to any of the 30 European countries part of the program, which is called the European Travel Information and Authorizations System, or ETIAS for short.

Luckily, the system for obtaining one of these travel visas will be simple. Here is some important information:

COST:

The application will cost 7 Euros for those who are 18 to 70 years old. Those under 18 or over 70 can apply for free.

HOW TO APPLY:

Applicants will need to fill out an electronic for either on the ETIAS website or ETIAS mobile application. They will need their passport, credit card and email address when applying.

The form will ask for personal information such as name, date of birth, home address, phone number and email address; passport details; and education and occupation details. It will also ask which countries the applicant will visit, as well as any past travel to countries experiencing war or conflict, criminal convictions and if the applicant has been required to leave the country in the past.

Once submitted, the applicant will receive an email confirming that the submission waw received. They will then receive an email when the application is approved. This can take anywhere from just a few minutes to four days at most.

WHEN TO APPLY:

There is no definitive date when this will begin, , but it will be in 2025. Keyrow Tours will inform you once we learn more.
